Press Release: Stacey Abrams Accredited with Voter Turnout

Nov 7, 2020, ATLANTA- Voter turnout multiples during the 2020 election in the state of Georgia, as a direct result of Stacey Abrams work in Cobb, Dekalb, and Fulton County.

The 2020 Presidential election was one of the most anticipated events of the year. Exercising your right to vote and how to vote was emphasized more than ever before. Abrams, current candidate for governor of Georgia went the extra mile. “She made sure we had everything in place and all the tools necessary to get people registered,” said election judge Amber Wright.

Stacey fought vigorously to put an end to any sort of voter suppression. “That fight is what I think helped make the difference because voters who wanted to be heard had the ability this time to actually make it through the gauntlet, get to the ballot box and cast their votes,” Abrams said. “But this work did not happen overnight. It didn't happen over two years.”

Stacey Abrams for Governor 2020- Stacey Abrams is dedicated to working for the people and create opportunities available for the state. In 2010, Abrams became the first woman to lead a party in the Georgia General Assembly and the first African American to lead in the House of Representatives. “My opportunity and the reason I’m doing this is because my goal is to not only have the ability to lift up the families in my state but to redefine our belief in who can lead,” said Abrams.
